

Driving Success Through High Performance and Workplace Engagement

How to thrive and win in the today's marketplace

- Complimentary Webinar -

Be the architect behind building a high performance organization

During these changing economic times it's critical to look beyond employee engagement to other factors that leverage success. To help your organization win at the next level you must understand the drivers of both high performance and workplace engagement.

This presentation will describe the practices and behaviors that connect and energize managers with employees to deliver on key success metrics. By understanding these "big picture" predictors of success you will be able to craft better HR strategy, make better resourcing decisions and avoid wasting money. On the webinar, expect the following to be covered:

- The Need: Why transforming workplace motivation into productivity is a top priority in today's environment?
- The Science: What four drivers motivate high performance at work? What three factors are critical to high performance and workplace engagement?
- The Action: What actions can you take when resources are limited?

Each 1 hour webinar limited to 15 people Thursday, July 21
