Management Expert Don Osvog Helps Workplace Stars Grow

Don Osvog, the founder of Managed Growth LLC has become an official member of the Board of Advisors with Workplace Stars. Don Osvog was brought to Workplace Stars by founder and fellow University of Nebraska alumni Bob Ebers after the company launched its retooled website in December of 2010. Don's role is to create a scalable operation and expand revenue. Ebers has stated that "Don's experience has been invaluable in helping us refine our business model and focus on the right priorities. We are more customer focused than ever, are delivering the best price/value offering in our space and our profit growth is accelerating."

Don's company Managed Growth LLC is known for providing COO services to CEO's and business owners to help them increase their profits and improve the overall performance of their work staff. Osvog has a strong belief that written plans are worthwhile only if they are properly implemented and are used specifically as a management tool. He makes sure his clients properly implement their new business plans by taking a hands on approach and working side by side with them throughout the process.

Osvog feels that Workplace Stars embodies this type of approach and dedication to their clients. He has said that "I believe they have a leading edge offering that will change the employee assessment playing field. I've seen so few organizations so committed to exceeding their customer's needs and deliver tremendous value at a fair price."
